

Biography

Olle Hillström, Telepo

VP Business Development and Product Marketing

Olle Hillström joined Telepo in November 2009 as Vice President Business Development and Product Marketing charged with the company's positioning in the market as well as external communication.

He has more than 10 years experience in the IT industry in Communications, most recently at Oracle where worked with end to end solutions in the communications industry. He was the global lead architect in Oracle's Industry Solutions Group for communications and brings a wealth of experience on how to take solutions to market as well as industry thought leadership around IT trends in communications.

Olle holds a Master of Science degree in Industrial Engineering and Management from Chalmers University of Technology in Gothenburg, Sweden.